Benefits of leasing

Leasing instead of buying: One very smart business decision

Whatever your business, whatever your strategies and objectives, in a dynamic business environment, leasing just makes more sense than buying. Leasing gives you financial flexibility, helps you meet changing technology needs quickly and easily, and may offer tax advantages, too.

The financial advantages

Improved cash flow and working capital. With an equipment lease, you get 100% financing. Your payments often are lower than with other types of financing. In fact, they're a fraction of the total purchase price, and may even qualify as a pre-tax expense. And because a lease may be considered off-balance-sheet financing, it leaves your credit lines intact for other business uses.

Predictable expenses and an inflation hedge. With the lower, fixed-rate payments of an equipment lease, you're protected against inflation. You can budget and forecast with greater confidence, too. Not only that—the equipment you use today will be paid for with tomorrow's dollars.

The technology advantages

More choices, more equipment, lower costs. With a lease, you can specify the manufacturer, the model number, even the source. You're covered by all conventional manufacturers' warranties. And because lease payments are usually lower than other forms of financing, your leasing dollar allows you to acquire more of the equipment your business needs.

Keeping your equipment up-to-date. When you lease, you're never tied to outdated machinery, equipment, or software. And you have complete flexibility in end-of-lease options: You can purchase it, refinance it, or simply return it. Your choice.

Leasing FAQs

How long is the lease application process?

When Leasing Solutions receives a completed online credit application, we can render a credit decision in as little as five minutes.

Can I select my own equipment?

Yes. You have the choice of selecting your own equipment up-front and then applying for a lease or you can get pre-approved and then select your equipment with confidence. Remember that the equipment chosen must be for business purposes only.

Once I am approved, what happens next?

Once the credit application is approved, lease documents are delivered to you for your signature. Once we've received the signed documents and you've accepted your equipment, we will make payment to the vendor.

How will leasing affect my company's cash flow?

In a word, positively. That's because leasing usually offers lower monthly payments than other financing sources. Those lower payments can help you bring revenues and expenses into closer alignment. And because payments are fixed, you can forecast future expenses more accurately and improve your budgeting process.

Is a down payment required?

Leasing is generally considered 100% financing, with as little as one advance payment required.

How are lease payments structured?

There's considerable flexibility in payment arrangements. While most leases provide for regular monthly payments, those payments may be made in advance, in arrears, or at irregular intervals. Terms range from 24 to 60 months and can be customized to suit your company's needs.

Can lease payments be reduced?

Lower monthly or quarterly lease payments can be negotiated, usually by extending the term of the lease. Assuming that payments are fixed, an extended term can reduce the amount of the individual payment. It's important to understand that while an extended term may lower the amount of the individual payment, the aggregate amount paid over the term of the lease will be higher.

Can I purchase the equipment I've leased?

At the end of the lease term, you have three options:

- You can return the equipment.
- You can purchase the equipment.
- You can continue to lease the equipment on a month-to-month basis.

What is a "fair market value" purchase option?

890

If your lease contains a "fair market value" purchase option, you can purchase the equipment at the end of the lease for its fair market value—the price at which the equipment you've leased would be sold by a willing seller and purchased by a willing buyer.

What is a "dollar-out" purchase option?

A "dollar-out" purchase option gives you the opportunity, at the end of the lease, to purchase the equipment you've leased for $1.

What is "Purchase Upon Termination" or "PUT"?

"Purchase Upon Termination" is a type of lease in which you purchase the equipment for 10% of the original purchase cost at the end of the lease term.
